The Internet and education

Until quite recently Silicon Valley and its innovations had little effect on teaching and learning.

But with the rise of the Internet, information technology is now beginning to have much more influence on education. Two areas which are becoming more and more significant are “blogs ”and “wikis”. The word “blog” is short for “weblog”. A blog is an online diary or “log” of someone’s life, thoughts, or opinions. Anybody can create their own “blog” and blogging is becoming extremely popular - type “blog” into Google and you’ll get over 500 million results. For educational purposes, academics, teachers, and students create blogs as personal online study sites: places to work together and share information and ideas. Some universities even give their students and staff free space on a server to start their own blogs. “Wikis” are websites where anyone can add content and make changes, so that the site becomes a group creation – “wiki” stands for “What I Know Is”. These sites can be a valuable source of information and opinion for students, though the information may not be totally accurate – some academics refuse to use them. Perhaps the best-known wiki is the online encyclopaedia, Wikipedia, which has more than one million entries in over 100 languages. Wikipedia is working hard to make sure that its information is completely accurate, so students will be able to use it with confidence, and there’s no doubt that it is an incredible resource.

1Reading.

There are a lot of popular items in the Republic of Komi. Read the stories A-E and match them with the questions 1-6. One question is extra.

Which text is about ...

- 1) ...the history of a city?
- 2) ...a folk festival?
- 3) ...traditional activities?
- 4) ...an official symbol?
- 5) ...town attractions?
- 6) ...nature sights?

A) The Komi Republic is the last area in Europe where one can find unique nature. The land varies from heavy forests to large marshlands, from high mountain ranges to deep valleys and meadows, from big glaciers to picturesque waterfalls. The natural wonders include the highest peaks of the Urals, including Narodnaya, and the Manpupuner rock formations.

B) "Gorka" is a mid-summer holiday, which is preserved by people in Ust-Tsilma. It is celebrated on the 12th of July. On this day people wear colourful ancient costumes, sing traditional folk songs and dance in a ring. During the holiday you can not only enjoy taking part in the performance, but also buy souvenirs like dolls in traditional costumes, colourful woolen mittens and wooden spoons.

C) Though Ust-Tsilma is not as large as Syktyvkar it has got many good aspects of a modern town. It has got some wonderful sights like the Central Library, the Zhuravsky Museum, the Centre of Folk Traditional Culture, the Sport Centre and others. There is an airport in the town, so it is very easy to travel to and from Ust-Tsilma.

D) Syktyvkar was started as a settlement at the city's present site. First it was named Ust-Sysolsk because it stands on the Sysola River. Syktyvkar was granted city status by Catherine the Great in 1780, and later became the administrative centre of the Komi. It was given the name of Syktyvkar, which is Komi for "a town on the Sysola" in 1930.

E) The national flag of the Republic of Komi is made up of three horizontal stripes – dark blue, green, and white. The dark blue stripe means greatness of northern

1. Read the texts and match them with the titles above

1. Royal hobby
2. The nominal head of the country
3. Protector of nature
4. Gifts from the heart
5. Writing to the Queen
6. Royal social duties
7. Royal open-air receptions
8. Travelling all round the world.

A. An important part of the work of the Queen and the Royal Family is to support and encourage public and voluntary service. One of the ways in which they do this is through association with charities. These include well-known charities such as the British Red Cross and new, smaller charities like Kids Company. About 3,000 organizations list a member of the Royal Family as patron or president

B. The Queen's husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, has played an important role in many aspects of national life. For example, from 1961 to 1982, he was President of the World Wildlife Fund, which supports the conservation, research and restoration of the environment.

C. Due to the great number of people who wish to contact the Royal Family, communication is only possible via letter. Members of the Royal Family cannot be contacted directly by email or telephone. To open the letter, people should address the Queen with the formal address 'Madam' and close the letter with the form 'I have the honour to be, Madam, Your Majesty's obedient servant'.

D. Members of the Royal Family carry out nearly 3,000 official journeys in the United Kingdom and overseas every year. Over five decades the Queen has used every possible form of transportation – from elephant to barge. But most Royal journeys use more typical forms of transportation: traditional carriages for ceremonial occasions, the Royal Train and helicopter for visits in the UK, and plane for overseas visits.

E. Visiting other countries, the Queen often gets presents. It is a long-standing tradition. In 1972, for example, Her Majesty received a collection of shells from the Seychelles and in 1991 she was presented with a pair of cowboy boots during her visit to the United States of America.

F. The Royal Collection of stamps is said to be one of the greatest collections of Great Britain and the Commonwealth. From the early nineteenth century, British monarchs continued to preserve, develop and enjoy the Royal Collection. Today the Collection continues to grow. It includes lots of priceless exhibits. Unlike the Crown Jewels and the Royal residences, the Royal Collection of stamps is privately owned by the Queen.

G. With tea, cakes and a beautiful garden to stroll in, garden parties are among the most relaxed and informal Royal events when over 30,000 people attend. Garden parties have been held at Buckingham Palace since the 1860s, when Queen Victoria introduced what were known as 'breakfasts'. Nowadays they are attended by people from different social groups.

Florence Nightingale

Florence Nightingale was a celebrated English nurse and writer. According to a survey, British people consider her to be one of the most famous British persons along with outstanding scientists, writers and politicians.

She was born into a rich, upper-class family in 1820, in Italy. She got her name Florence after the city of her birth, as there was a tradition in her family to name the children in honour of the city they were born in. She got an all-round education and according to the family's status Florence was expected to become a faithful wife and attentive mother.

However, in 1844 Florence decided to become a nurse, despite the intense anger and distress of her mother and sister. At that time nursing was seen as a job that needed neither education nor special medical skills.

In 1854 the Crimean War broke out and Florence Nightingale offered her services to the War Office and soon left for the Crimea with thirty-eight volunteer nurses. They began their work in the main British camp, in the hospital. Very soon Florence found out that hygiene was neglected, and fatal infections were common. There was no equipment to cook proper food for the patients. Florence decided to change the situation.

Nightingale managed to found a vast kitchen and a laundry. In addition to her nursing work, she tried to organize reading and recreation rooms for the wounded soldiers. She was on her feet for twenty hours a day and so were the other nurses. It is now called The Florence Nightingale School of Nursing and Midwifery and is part of King's College in London. The annual International time she was 38 years old, she was seriously ill. She left her house very rarely and had to stay in bed most of the time. Nevertheless, Florence continued her work from her bed. She wrote many books, some of them became the base of the curriculum at the Nightingale School and other British nursing schools.

Florence Nightingale died in London in 1910, at the age of ninety. The government offered to bury Florence in Westminster Abbey, but her relatives did not agree. However, the memorial service took place in St. Paul's Cathedral.
